

THEE SOREHEADS

Four slightly angry punks (Maria, Ally, Hugh, and Max) based in Tiohtià:ke (Montréal). Known for their riotous live performances, Thee Soreheads bring a hard-hitting garage punk sound influenced by surf rock, riot grrrl and rock n roll. From consent, to calling out white supremacists, their witty confrontational lyrics and catchy riffs meld to create wild chaotic anthems of big issues.

REVIEWS

* "This band doesn't just play music – they play truth. They're raw and loud with vocals that channel the spirit of Kathleen Hanna and lyrics that rip the mask off patriarchy". - Gutterglitz

* "With equal parts explosive rage, satisfying catharsis, and finely honed wit, Thee Soreheads deliver six epic, no-holds-barred anthems that even the staunchest chauvinist will find difficult to ignore. I'm Not Your Fucking Sex Doll is a standout debut EP from a talented band that should be on every punk's radar." - Emma H - Dying Scene

* "Vocalist Maria Jimenez's vocals offer up a classic punk whine that perfectly matches the classic punk stylings that sound like something recorded in a basement ...bringing to mind the gloriously sloppy hardcore punk bands of the '80s like Black Flag and The Descendents" - Julie River - New Noise
